EXPERIENCED SMALL ANIMAL VETERINARY SURGEON

- We are a twenty vet practice looking for a small animal veterinary surgeon to join our independently owned, R.C.V.S. accredited practice in rural North Yorkshire.
- High calibre support staff including qualified RVNs, SVNs and VCAs.
- Excellent, friendly and experienced veterinary team - regular in-house clinical meetings and discussions
- Favourable terms for a proactive and enthusiastic approach

We are a first opinion practice and this position offers a very varied mix of work, and to a degree the role can be tailored to accommodate an individual's areas of enthusiasm.

Our small animal surgery has excellent facilities (2 vet and one nurse consulting rooms, separate large operating theatre, large prep room, separate room for radiography and ultrasound scanning, isolation room, separate cat & dog kennels). Our equipment includes in-house biochemistry, critical care analyser, standard and dental digital radiography, ultrasound for both abdominal use and echocardiography, ECG and diathermy amongst other tools.

20-minute consult times, with consults taking place at 3 points in the day. Morning, lunch, and evening surgery.

We are ideally looking for someone to work 4/5 days per week but will consider a flexible working pattern.

Easingwold is a small market town close to York, and in the middle of beautiful countryside – the Yorkshire Moors and The Howardian Hills, but it is close to main road and rail networks.

If you are interested, please contact us by e-mail or telephone – we would be happy to discuss the position further. Please apply to Mrs V. Garbutt, Practice Manager, Howells Veterinary Services Ltd., York Road, Easingwold, York, YO61 3EB (e-mail: victoria.garbutt@howellsvets.co.uk), or telephone 01347 823678 for more details.
